

OXBRIDGE OFFERS FOR HAILEYBURY TURNFORD STUDENTS

Haileybury Turnford is delighted to report that Liam Kline has been offered a place to study English at Homerton College, Cambridge and John Pearce to study Physics at Somerville College, Oxford.

They, along with a number of other Sixth Form students received tailored support and guidance, including preparation for university entrance exams and interviews, from their sponsor school, Haileybury in order to extend and develop them in pursuit of their chosen universities. Principal, Robin Neman, said of the experience: “All students have been very positive about how they have developed as a result of the support they have received. They’ve all undoubtedly benefited a great deal from it, which is why the number of offers from Russell Group universities is at the highest level for many years. It’s been a terrific team effort, involving students and staff”.

This year’s offers come on the back of last year’s success when Laura Lewis was successful in taking her place at the University of Cambridge to read Human, Social and Political Sciences.

“Students have higher aspirations and truly believe that they can obtain a place at the most selective universities in the UK. Haileybury Turnford will continue to work with Haileybury to ensure the number of students receiving offers from the most selective universities continues to increase” commented Navpreet Shivalkar, Assistant Principal & Head of Sixth Form.

The recent Ofsted inspection rated the sixth form at Haileybury Turnford as Good.
