

A few words from Mr Newman

Farewell to our Year 11 and Year 13 students today

It has been an emotional day in school today, as we have celebrated with, and bid farewell to our Year 11 and Year 13 students. In more normal times, we would have celebrated these occasions with families too, but we were unfortunately not able to invite families into school to join our celebrations this year.

Our students, affected by the disruption caused to their education by COVID-19 and the cancellation of exams, have shown great resilience and it has wonderful to see the support they have given each other. Today saw the traditional shirt signing rite of passage for our Year 11 students, and our Year 13 students enjoyed a celebratory lunch together after their respective assemblies.

My thanks to all Haileybury Turnford staff for the care and support that has been shown to our students, helping to navigate them through such challenging times. I wish each and every one of our students great success with what comes next for them.

Congratulations to Miss Jethmalani

I am delighted to announce that Miss Jethmalani has been shortlisted for Outstanding New Teacher of the Year in the Pearson National Teaching

First established in 1998, the awards are an annual celebration of excellence in education, recognising the work of staff in schools and colleges across the UK. They are the 'Oscars' of the teaching profession!

As part of the judging process, we hosted a virtual visit from the judges on Monday 24th May.

If you are able to write any comments about how Miss Jethmalani has inspired your child, either as a tutor, or Science teacher, please could you email me directly with your comments by Monday 7th
June. Please send comments to newmanr@haileyburyturnford.com

Thank you for your support.

Well done to our Sixth Form Dance students who showcased their hard work in their final performance evening on Thursday 27th May. Miss Bilsby was very proud of their hard work and commitment to Dance during their time at HT. Best of luck for your future adventures.

Design & Technology Year 8 VEX Robotics Club

We launched the VEX Robotics Club last term, hoping to assemble a team who could compete in the National VEX Robotics competition.

It has been great to see the dedication of our founder Year 8 members and how they have been encouraging other students in the year to join. We now a number of Year 8 students in the club and they have formed three teams and are hoping to enter next year's Regional final. Working together they have designed and built their own robots and have now started running practice competitions and challenges within the after-school club in anticipation of the start of the next season's events. We have been really impressed by the excellent progress that the Year 8 students have made on their robots and the perseverance they have shown. We are confident that they will have gained all of the skills they need to hold their own in the first regional events next year.

D&T Students visit the new building

Our Year 12 Engineering and Product Design students were lucky enough meet with the Morgan Sindall Site Managers for a site presentation and tour of the new building.

The same students will also meet various other members of the team including the architects/designers, structural engineers, surveyors and trades people in a hope they can discuss and inspire possible career paths in these areas.

Morgan Sindall careers visit

Mr Hill organised for Morgan Sindall to visit HT to discuss careers in Construction with some Year 10 and Year 12 Engineering students on 27th May. The professionals discussed career paths and opportunities with our students.

Year 11 Leavers' Assembly

We have been really impressed with the maturity, hard work and determination shown from our resilient Year 11 students this year. We celebrated their journey through HT this morning in an emotional farewell.

Graduation - Class of 2021

Today saw the official graduation ceremony of our Year 13 students. It was a momentous day full of pride and joy, but it was also tinged with sadness at the end of 7 years at Haileybury Turnford for our students now about to make their way onto the next stage of their lives.

The journey through the Sixth Form for this group of students has been an interesting affair. I'm sure students will not forget the disruption to their education caused by COVID-19. However, once again, they have demonstrated their resilience and risen to the challenges.

The ceremony involved congratulations from Mr Newman, Mrs Shivalkar and Ms Goody, followed by comments from our outgoing Head Students, Joshua Asiedu, Sevgul Giritlioglu and Samantha Porter.

The students and staff then returned to the Sixth Form Centre for a celebration lunch and some photographs! We wish all our Year 13 students every success in the future and look forward to celebrating with them on Results Day.

Staff News

We sadly said goodbye to Mrs Amatruda, Assistant Year Achievement Coordinator, who left HT on Friday 14th May, to start a new promoted pastoral post at another school. We wish to thank Mrs Amatruda for her care, commitment and support for our students during her time working at HT.

Certificates ready for collection

Qualification Certificates from Summer 2018 to Autumn 2020 are available to be collected from the Exams Department. Present students can visit the Exams office in person to collect their certificates. Past students can collect their certificates via reception or arrange for a third party to collect on their behalf. All certificate enquiries should be direct to Mrs Nayler, Exams Administrator at naylerg@haileyburyturnford.com

Year 10 revision books

A reminder to current Year 10 students that you need to purchase your Maths revision books. The pack is £5.00 through ParentPay.

Please ensure you return to school with a complete equipment set, especially scientific calculators after half-term.

St Giles Trust

Our Year 10 students participated in a session with St Giles Trust this week which they found purposeful and helpful.

Brilliant Club – Scholars Programme

A small group of year 9 students took part in the Brilliant Club's Scholars Programme over a 12-week period earlier in the academic year. The following is the speech that Billy Fairclough gave during the online presentation last month. He spoke in front of all schools from the Eastern region – well done Billy:

"I took part in the No Health without mental health course ran by our tutor Emma Soneson. Our course was about how mental health conditions can be caused, prevented and managed leading up to our final assignment where we were tasked with creating an intervention in schools to prevent mental health illnesses in teenagers.

Over the sessions we had with Emma we were taught about how to write essays to a university standard, the stages and development plans of interventions and various facts about mental health conditions to name a few topics we studied over our time with our tutor.

The Scholars Programme has provided me and other participants a great insight of how life can be like studying at university and that's thanks to our amazing tutor Emma who balanced our work while working on her PhD. I and all the other members of the Scholars Programme from Haileybury Turnford would like to thank Emma for being such a good tutor and providing us with a life changing experience."

Well done to all students who took part in the Brilliant Club. They showed great determination, independent working and commitment to the programme.

Students involved were:

Reece Craber
Billy Fairclough
Olivia Hau
Kai Henry
Amelie Marendaz
Remy Matthews
Mia Parker
Emmanuel Pius
Thomas Verrell-Holmes
Alfie Verrier

Why Nature is the theme for Mental Health Awareness Week 2021?

'There is something to be wondered at in all of Nature' – Aristotle

During long months of the pandemic, millions of us turned to nature. Research on the mental heal impacts of the pandemic showed going for walks outside was one of our top coping strategies and 45% of us reported being in green spaces had been vital for our mental health. Websites which showed footage from webcams of wildlife saw hits increase by over 2000%. Wider studies also found that during lockdowns, people not only spent more time in nature but were noticing it more.

It was as if we were re-discovering at our most fragile point our fundamental human need to connect with nature.

Nature and our mental health

Nature is so central to our psychological and emotional health, that it's almost impossible to realise good mental health for all without a greater connection to the natural world. For most of human history, we lived as part of nature. It is only in the last five generations that so many of us have lived and worked in a context that is largely separated from nature. And it is only since a 1960s study in the US found that patients who were treated in hospitals with a view of nature recovered faster, that science has started to unpack the extraordinary health benefits.

During Mental Health Awareness Week 2021, we will pull together the evidence that demonstrates the powerful benefits of nature for our mental health. We will look at nature's unique ability to not only bring consolation in times of stress, but also increase our creativity, empathy and a sense of wonder. It turns out that it is not just being in nature but how we open ourselves up and interact with nature that counts. We will show that even small contacts with nature can reduce feelings of social isolation and be effective in protecting our mental health, and preventing distress. Nature is our great untapped resource for a mentally healthy future.

Despite this, many of us are not accessing or benefitting from nature. Teenagers in particular appear to be less connected with nature and around 13% of UK households have no access to a garden. We want to challenge the disparities in who is and who isn't able to experience nature. Nature is not a luxury. It is a resource that must be available for everyone to enjoy — as basic as having access to clean water or a safe roof over our heads. Local and national governments need to consider their role in making this a reality for everyone, and we will be talking about how they can do so during the week.

What were the goals for the Mental Health Awareness Week?

There were two clear aims. Firstly, to inspire more people to connect with nature in new ways, noticing the impact that this connection can have for their mental health. Secondly, to convince decision makers at all levels that access to and quality of nature is a mental health and social justice issue as well as an environmental one.

2021 is going be a huge year for nature: a new Environment Bill will go through the UK Parliament which will shape the natural world for generations to come; the UK will host the G7 nations where creating a greener future will be a key priority and a historic international UN Climate Change Conference of the Parties (COP26) will be hosted in Glasgow in November.

There could not be a more important time to understand the links between nature and mental health.

What you can do

Stories are the best tools we have to influence change. Unless we can demonstrate nature's role in bringing solace and joy to our lives, it will remain under-valued and under-utilised.

How has nature supported your mental health? This might be as a simple as tending to a house plant, listening to the birds, touching the bark of trees, smelling flowers or writing a poem about our favourite nature spot. During Mental Health Awareness Week, we are being asked to do three things:

- Experience nature: take time to recognise and grow your connection with nature during the week. Take a moment to notice and celebrate nature in your daily life. You might be surprised by what you notice!
- Share nature: Take a photo, video or sound recording and share the connections you've made during the week, to inspire others. Join the discussion on how you're connecting with nature by using the hashtags #ConnectWithNature #MentalHealthAwarenessWeek
- Talk about nature: use our tips, school packs, research and policy guides to discuss in your family, school, workplace and community how you can help encourage people to find new ways to connect with nature in your local environment.
