Students in the Sixth Form are expected to complete 4-5 hours of independent study and homework per subject per week. In order to support students to use the time constructively, we recommend that Sixth Form teachers set 2-3 hours of homework per subject per week. This does not always have to be written work, but could include reading around a subject, pre-reading for a lesson, creating revision resources etc. Homework for sixth form will still be set using our online platform Class Charts.
