

A message from Mr Barrett

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all the students who have continuously worked hard and strived to do their best in all areas of school life, academic and in co-curricular activities. It is a real delight to recognise each week in assembly our outstanding students, highlighting their achievements and very high levels of punctuality. These qualities, being a solid foundation upon which to build for the future.

In assembly we have also rewarded three very lucky students, who due to their outstanding attendance have received a voucher.

To all parents. Thank you for your continued support throughout the half term, it's very much appreciated. Keep up the great work, everybody, enjoy the break, keep safe and God Bless.

Thank you to Mr White, Miss Spencer, Mr Megaw and Miss Newman for their support this half term.

Online Resources

In addition to our curriculum, with work being set on Class Charts (Year 7-10) and via email (Year 12), some additional online resources have been launched.

The government has launched a new website to support online learning:

<https://www.thenational.academy/>

The BBC has launched their updated BBC Bitesize website:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize>

As a priority, students should complete the work set by our teachers, but some of these resources might be of interest to families to supplement our HT curriculum. We would value any feedback should families access any of these resources.
